VIENNA.

The following Memorial was presented to the Emperour by Sir Philip Meadows, Envoy extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of the Queen of Great Britain.

Most illustrious, most potent, and most victorious Emperour, always Enlarger of the Empire.

SOME Months are pass'd, since I verbally represented to your Sacred Imperial Majesty the earnest Desire of the most illustrious and most potent Queen of Great Britain, my most gracious Mistress, that the Peace and Tranquility of the whole sacred Roman Empire and of the Hereditary Dominions of your Imperial Majesty, should be firmly establish'd; and that a strict Friendship should be renew'd between your Imperial Majesty and the illustrious King of Sweden, by a speedy and intire Execution of the Treaty of Alt Ranstad, the Guaranty of which the illustrious Queen of Great Britain did, at your Desire, take upon her.

On that Occasion I laid before your Imperial Majesty, by Command from her said Majesty, the Condition of your Subjects of Silesia who profess the reformed (or Calvinist) Religion; who, though they are not expressly mention'd in the Treaty of Alt Ranstad, hop'd, from the Equity and Justice of your Imperial Majesty, to be restor'd to the Rights and Privileges which they enjoy'd by Virtue of the Treaty of Westphalia, at the same time that your Majesty put their Brethren of the Lutheran Perswasion into Possession of all the Rights which they formerly enjoy'd by Virtue of the same Treaty. And seeing the Treaty of Alt Ranstad was founded on the Pacification of Westphalia, and was made to no other End than for re-establishing all Points of the Treaty of Westphalia which had been violated, none could doubt that your Majesty would have order'd your Ministers, who were commission'd to see the Treaty of Alt Ranstad put in Execution, to reinstate all your Subjects of Silesia who are of the Protestant Religion, without any Exception or Distinction of Names, in all the Rights and Privileges which they formerly enjoy'd, or ought to have enjoy'd, by Virtue and Authority of the Treaty of Westphalia.

But whereas the Treaty of Alt-Ranstad, as far as concerns the Lutherans, is so far executed, that there is Hope of a speedy and happy End on both Sides of all things relating thereto; and whereas nothing is yet done for the Benefit of the small Number of the Calvinists inhabiting Silesia; my Duty obliges me to remonstrate to your Imperial Majesty, what the illustrious Queen of Great Britain hopes, as well from the Justice and Equity of your Majesty, as in Consideration of the Good Will Her Majesty bears to your illustrious House, namely that your Imperial Majesty will not suffer your Subjects who profess the Calvinist Religion to lament and bewail their miserable Condition, while the other Protestants are praising Almighty God for inclining your Mind to grant them the free Exercise of their Religion.

That the Calvinists, as well as the Lutherans, and Catholics, are included in the Treaty of Westphalia, is so evident, as well from the very Words of the Treaty, as from the subsequent Execution of it, that no Man can dispute it who is not dispos'd to find an Evasion where there is Room for none. Wherefore the illustrious Queen of Great Britain rests assur'd, that your Imperial Majesty will incline a favourable Ear to the just Request of your Calvi-nist Subjects of Silesia for the free Exercise of their religious Worship, and that your Majesty will maintain the Honour, so becoming a Prince, of justly and fully performing your Treaties; without listening to any Person who either maliciously or out of false State-Policy may endeavour to dissuade your Imperial Majesty from your just Intention; and that you will do what in it self is equitable and just.

By how much your sacred Imperial Majesty shews a just and religious Regard to your Promises, in performing what your own Interest and Treaties require; by so much the greater and surer Hopes may be entertain'd, that Heaven will bless your Arms: And this will animate all the Allies to pursue the more vigorously the present War, which was undertaken for no other Cause than to punish the perfidious Violation of the most sacred Treaties. That your Imperial Arms and those of the other Allies may always be victorious over the Enemy, till the present principal End of the Confederacy be obtain'd, namely the Restoring the House of Austria to all their Dominions and Territories, is the sincere and earnest Wish of your sacred Imperial Majesty's most obedient and most humble Servant,

Vienna, October 27. 1708.

P. MEADOWS.

Hague, Nov. 16. We hope here that the Emperour will not delay to cause his Troops to act with all Vigour to oblige the Pope to lay down the Sword. For, if he suffers himself to be amus'd by any long Negotiation, he may meet with greater Difficulties in the Field than he may at present suspect. Some are of Opinion that the Pope will give Ear to reasonable Terms of Accommodation; but others who reflect on his long Practices in favour of the Crowns of France and Spain, and on his apparent Headyness, with his Inclination to aggrandize his Family, are of a contrary Sentiment. The Imperialists seem to fear nothing so much, as that the Pope's Emisaries and the Clergy of Naples are working under hand to raise a sudden Rebellion in that Kingdom: Against which the Viceroy and the Prince of Darmstadt have taken all fit Precautions. Yet notwithstanding those Apprehensions, a certain Number of Imperialists and Italians, with some Recruits, will be forthwith transported to Catalonia, Part from Naples Part from Final, under the Convoy of 14 Men of War commanded by Commadore Whitaker; which by the last Advices from Italy are actually arriv'd at Leghorn from Minorea; and are to separate there, in order to fetch the said Troops from Naples and Final, and afterwards to joyn and sail all together for Barcelona.

Plymouth, Nov. 7. This Day came in my Lord Dursly from Cruizing to the Westward, in the Orford, with the Monk, Worcester, August, and Hampshire: The latter has brought in a French Privateer of 16 Guns. Came in the Exeter with a French Merchant-Ship of 16 Guns bound to the West-Indies.

Shields, Nov. 7. Two Regiments of Soldiers were imbarck'd in our Harbour Yesterday, and the Transports with the Men of War are in a Readyness to sail to Day.

London, November 11.

Yesterday Morning arriv'd a Mail from Lisbon, with Letters of the 10th of November N. S. which give an Account, that 60 Sail of the Brazill Fleet, with two East India Men very richly laden (to the Value, say the Letters, of 8 Millions,) were safe arriv'd there: And that Sir George Byng was return'd thither with his Squadron from Cruising; not doubting that the 5 Portuguese and 3 English Men of War which are in Quest of the French Squadron, are sufficient to lye out for the Security of the rest of the Brazil Fleet that are still expected.

Thomas Tresham, lately employ'd as a Clerk in the Excise-Office, Aged about 27, rather low than tall of Stature, a smooth Face, his own Hair of a dark Colour bushy and very long, a remarkable short Foot and very high Instep, wearing a new Suit of Cloaths of a stuff Colour, a Silver-hilted Sword, and an edged Har, having been instrumental in procuring some Debentures for the Duty on Malt to be paid to a Person to whom they did not belong, which Person has sign'd the said Debentures by the Name of John Melling, but his right Name is Hart, (a Hampshire-man) formerly employ'd at Sea, Aged about 36, having a thin pockhol'd Face of a middle Stature, wearing a black Har, a double-button breasted Coat of a light Colour, a light Campaign Wig and sometimes an old natural Wig.
